BIOGRAPHY

Ale Martí is a composer, producer and session player based in London.

With a unique voice as a composer and guitar-player, supported by an eclectic collection of stringed instruments, Ale creates music for film and television. Recent projects include Spanish feature 'My Fault', the BBC's teen series 'Almost Never', Guillermo del Toro's 'Antlers', Ron Howard's 'Genius' series, and the biopic 'Escobar', starring Javier Bardem and Penelope Cruz. His distinctive soundtrack style features instruments such as guitarviol, prepared piano and Weissenborn, while his background as a sound engineer and pop-band front man adds to his range and versatility in the studio.

Outside the film world, Ale's work includes personal projects -- such as his latest album Psychedelic Groove Box -- as well as trailers, film library music and ads.
