BIOGRAPHY

Award-winning Australian film composer Nerida Tyson-Chew brings a distinct warmth and creative ingenuity to her work. Known for her collaborative approach and versatility across a range of musical disciplines, her portfolio spans feature films, television dramas, children's productions as well as numerous documentaries and wildlife films. Nerida's passion is being a sonic storyteller of feelings for film, expressing through music the unseen and unsaid, supporting the drama, the edit and subliminally underscoring dialogue.

Among Nerida's diverse credits are the UNICEF Award-winning animated French-Australian feature film 'L'apprenti Père Noël' (Santa's Apprentice), the Fox-Walden Media/ Hallmark Channel film 'Return to Nim's Island', Sony Pictures' 'Anacondas: The Hunt for the Blood Orchid' (US), Nine Network TV series 'Rescue - Special Ops', Warner Bros.' 'Batman: The Animated Series' (US), animation series 'Tracey McBean' (ABC), the documentary series 'Life@' (ABC) and The National Geographic Channel series 'Taboo' (US).

Nerida enjoys being a part of screen music history as one of the first female composers scoring on productions in the US, and joined the elite league of female composers to score a motion picture for a major Hollywood studio when she was hired by Sony Pictures in 2003.

Nerida has been recognised with numerous awards and nominations over her 25+ year career. Her Australian Screen Composer Awards include Feature Film Score of the Year, Best Music for a TV Series, Best Music for a Children's Series and Best Music for a Telemovie and Mini-Series. Nerida scored all three series of the BAFTA-nominated hit CBBC Canadian/Australian underwater animated adventure series 'The Deep'. Based on Tom Taylor's Aurealis Award-winning graphic novel series, 'The Deep' is produced by A Stark Production, Technicolor and DHX Media. Most recently, Nerida composed the original score for Cyan Films latest feature 'H is for Happiness'.

Her portfolio spreads across hundreds of hours of music and is in circulation in over 80 countries. 2020 is Nerida's 34th year as an APRA Composer.
