BIOGRAPHY

Bryce Jacobs has a unique musical storytelling voice. We hear it in Syfy/NBCUniversal's '12 Monkeys' and festival favorite 'Drunk Stoned Brilliant Dead: The Story of the National Lampoon' (Tribeca and Sundance) along with his additional score for Universal's 'Skyscraper', Disney's 'Christopher Robin', Ron Howard's 'Rush' and others.

We hear it in his work on the world-building song production for the Netflix cult hit 'Daybreak' and his legendary guitar contributions to Warner Bros.' 'Man of Steel', DreamWorks' 'Puss in Boots' franchise and 'Fifty Shades of Grey', among others.

As a multi-instrumentalist, Bryce composes with an "out of the box" approach, bringing a singular quality to his work using vocals, masterful modular synth programming and the 7-Octave guitar he invented.
